

Why We Talk About Money

Money talks and so should we! We are creating spaces for intergenerational conversations where students, parents, and educators go beyond financial literacy to build financial resilience. Together we look at money as a tool and financial decision-making as a personal path. As a community we develop an understanding of our personal relationship with money, new ways of thinking and talking about money, and the skills to take action and advocate for ourselves and others.

Making Change Happen Together

Summer programming is an opportunity for learners to take the stage as leaders sharing connections between work experience, career interests, financial explorations, self-identity, values-based decision-making and social change. Our surveys show that summer financial education programming can improve learning relationships, decrease stress and increase understanding of financial concepts. Together we can create change that lasts long after the summer is over.

Who We've Worked With

in the words of one of our students:

"If I don't have a plan for my money, my money will have a plan for me!"
